Wade Rogers

Wade Rogers is from Fort White Florida. He is married to Stephanie, and they have two daughters, Amber and Jaylyn. Together they own Rogers Livestock, where they raise registered Boer goats and registered Charolais cattle.

Wade and his family have been involved in the goat industry since 2016 raising and showing both registered and market goats. Wade has been the Boer Goat superintendent at the Florida State Fair since 2019, and has put on numerous other jackpot shows in Florida as well. Most recently he and Stephanie also hosted the Area 4 JABGA regional.

2026 will be Wade's third year as a National Show Superintendent. He is looking forward to seeing everyone in Grand Island, and helping to make it one of the best Nationals ever.

TiAnna Doyle

TiAnna Doyle is from Martinsburg, WV where she and her husband, Terry, reside with their daughters, Ellee and Lilly. They own and operate Doyle Family Farm and raise registered Boer goats.

When they are not traveling to shows they can be found at their daughter's show choir events, volleyball games or enjoying a day on the river.

TiAnna and her family have been involved in the Boer goat industry since 2022. Her daughter, Ellee, bred and raised the 2024 National Reserve Overall Grand Champion Buck.

TiAnna serves on the Mid Atlantic Goat Association and assists with ring steward duties at several of their shows. TiAnna and her husband also put on Blooms & Boers and Boers & Bonfire shows held in Berkeley County, WV.

This will be TiAnna's first time as a Superintendent for the National show and she is looking forward to working with the exhibitors and helping make this a wonderful event for all.
